

LEADERS

The world is facing uncertain times and there is much discussion as to what the world will look like in the 21st century.

A vital part of world order has always been the importance and reliance on partnerships, alliances, and global institutions in dealing with the world's challenges and political crises.

Are these organizations effective? Should any be reorganized or even abolished?

United Nations

European Union

North Atlantic Treaty Organization

Association of Southeast Asian Nations

The Arab League

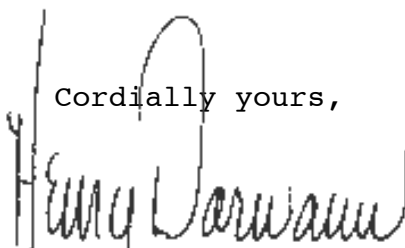

World Trade Organization

The World Bank

World Health Organization

If they aren't around, who would talk to whom? Then what would happen? What are your constructive thoughts or even controversial thoughts? We'll look forward to your e-mail or fax.

Cordially yours,

HENRY O. DORMANN
Chairman & Editor-in-Chief

DARRELL J. BROWN
Vice Chairman & Editor

DAVID W. SCHNER
President & Executive Editor